Biomedical Sciences Annual Retreat

Mark your calendar for the Biomedical Sciences Annual Retreat on Thursday, December 8:45 am-1:15 pm. The Retreat will be held at the OSU Faculty Club; a continental breakfast will be provided. Students, please invite your mentor. A detailed agenda will be sent later.

We would like to invite and encourage all post-candidacy students to apply to be speakers. We will have 8 student speakers, and two will win a $1,000 travel award and the Best Student Speaker will be awarded an additional $500 award from Procter & Gamble. To participate as a speaker and in the Biomedical Sciences Graduate Program Student Travel Award Competition, write a one-page double spaced abstract about your research project and return as a MS Word attachment to bsgp@osumc.edu by Friday, October 16. Abstracts will be reviewed by a faculty committee and eight students will be selected to make a 10 minute science presentation at the Retreat.

We constantly need to update your accomplishments for training grant applications, and we are asking you to also respond to a survey, that serves as an Individual Development Plan (IDP). This is important information. Plus, with this information, we will be able to highlight at accomplishments of the students. You can find the IDP at: https://osu.az1.qualtrics.com/SID=SV_03xKNhiXhN8jsyx

We are asking all students to complete the online survey by Friday, September 25. We look forward to receiving many outstanding abstracts and to an enjoyable and interesting Retreat.

Flu/HIPAA CBL Requirement

30th Edward F. Hayes Graduate Research Forum: Call for Abstracts and Judges

Call for Abstracts

The Hayes Graduate Research Committee is accepting abstracts from graduate students at Ohio State University to participate in the prestigious, Hayes Graduate Research Forum, dedicated to presenting outstanding research by graduate students from across the range of OSU's graduate programs. Abstracts will be accepted through November 13th.

To submit an abstract, visit: https://cgs.osu.edu/hayes-forum/

Questions? Please contact Megan Fitze: fitze.1@osu.edu.

Call for Faculty Judges

Dear OSU Faculty Member:

The Hayes Graduate Research Committee is seeking faculty judges from Ohio State University to participate in the prestigious, 30th Edward F. Hayes Research Forum. Coming into its 30th year, the Hayes Forum presents exemplary research by graduate students from across the full range of Ohio State's graduate degree programs and facilitates fruitful exchanges between students, faculty, the administration, and the public. Cash prizes are awarded to top candidates from each academic category. This year the forum will be held on February 26th, 2015.

The Hayes Forum is not possible without the experience and adeptness of judges from OSU. In judging, you not only create impact that improves and rewards the exemplary research of graduate students, but the value of your presence contributes to the prestige of the Hayes Research Forum. At this time we are seeking judges both for abstract review and paper and presentation judging. If you are interested in serving as a judge for the 2016 year, please visit www.cgs.osu.edu and click on the Hayes Forum tab at the top of the page. Applications for judging can be found on the left side of the page under the heading, Judges Information. Additionally, the URL is provided here: https://cgs.osu.edu/hayes-forum/judges-information/
