Biomedical Sciences Annual Retreat

Mark your calendar for the Biomedical Sciences Annual Retreat on Thursday, December 8:45 am - 1:15 pm. The Retreat will be held at the OSU Faculty Club; a continental break will be provided. Students, please invite your mentor. A detailed agenda will be sent later.

We would like to invite and encourage all post-candidacy students to apply to be speakers. We will have 8 student speakers, and two will win a $1,000 travel award and the Best Student Speaker will be awarded an additional $500 award from Procter & Gamble. To participate as a speaker, Biomedical Sciences Graduate Program Student Travel Award Competition, write a one-page abstract about your research project and return as a MS Word attachment to bsg by Friday, October 16. Abstracts will be reviewed by a faculty Committee and eight students selected to make a 10 minute science presentation at the Retreat.

We constantly need to update your accomplishments for training grant applications, and we are asking you to also respond to a survey, that serves as an Individual Development Plan (IDP), with this important information. Plus, with this information, we will be able to highlight at accomplishments of the students. You can find the IDP at: https://osu.az1.qualtrics.com/SV_03xXNhXhN8j5y

We are asking all students to complete the online survey by Friday, September 25. We look forward to receiving many outstanding abstracts and to an enjoyable and interesting retreat.

How to apply for graduation

Council of Graduate Students Delegate Elections

Are you a student leader interested in enriching the graduate student experience? Join the Council of Graduate Students and represent your fellow graduate students as a Delegate!

Delegates have an important role in the shared governance structure of the University and contribute substantially to the graduate experience through their positions. Aside from serving on the Council, delegates have the opportunity to serve on internal and external university committees that make important decisions and programming that affect the graduate student population.

The nomination period is now open and will end this Friday, September 4th, 2015.

To nominate yourself or a fellow peer as a delegate, please visit http://cgs.osu.edu/get-involved/delegate-application

Delegate Application form is the first choice under "Get Involved" Navigation bar on the left of the page.

The election period will be September 9-16th. An email reminder will be sent with the election link.

More information on the position of delegate can be found here:
https://cgs.osu.edu/administration/delegates/

There are multiple ways to be involved in the Council of Graduate Students. See more about the Council of Graduate Students at cgs.osu.edu.
