

The Gyatri Mantra

May my intellect be steady without agitation.

May it be clear without anger or passion.

May the brilliant light of the sun beam through my intellect so that perception of the world may be clear, my discrimination subtle, my judgment correct and quick, and my comprehension of persons and situations precise and wise.