

Letter from Clara Lee, MD MPP, Director of Women's Academic Advancement in FAME

I am honored and excited to serve as the Director of the Committee on Women in Medicine and Science (WIMS). WIMS has had a productive year, including hosting several college-wide professional development events. WIMS will continue to work hard to create even more new, engaging, and relevant programs for the next year.

Currently, WIMS is developing a formal strategic plan to fulfill our mission of supporting and advancing women faculty at Ohio State. We are gratified that the College of Medicine is engaged in this process and look forward to continuing our collaboration with Chief Diversity Officer Leon McDougale and Dean Craig Kent. I will share updates with you throughout and beyond our planning process. As always, I am receptive to your input and would love to hear from you.

Dr. Clara Lee, MD, MPP
